College of Business featured in TV show

The College of Business was one of four schools to be featured recently in an episode of a nationally syndicated television program.

Described as business schools emerging onto the national scene, the four participating schools appeared on "The Executive Forum" to explain innovative approaches they are using to better prepare graduates to meet the needs of business and industry in an increasingly competitive and rapidly changing global marketplace.

New structure, director for Advancement Services

The technical area of Advancement Services is now part of Information Technology Services. Theresa May, Melinda Castillo and Rob Comrie, members of the newly named Advancement Systems team, have joined the Support Applications group. The team will continue to provide technical support to University Advancement.

Nicolas Giacomia, who has been serving as director of University Advancement's Prospect Management and Research department since May, will succeed May as Advancement Services director. □

Appointments

Two department chairs in the College of Engineering and seven area coordinators in the College of Business have been named.

College of Engineering

• Robert Lang, a member of the Civil and Environmental Engineering Department since 1991, is serving a three-year term as department chair.

• Jin Tso is the chair of the Aeronautical Engineering Department and will serve three years. Tso came to Cal Poly in 1988.

College of Business

• Fred Abitia of the Industrial Technology Area is serving as coordinator for one year until June 1999. Abitia has been teaching at Cal Poly since 1969.

• Allan Bird, who has taught at Cal Poly since 1994, is serving one year as the Global Strategy and Law Area coordinator. His term also ends in June 1999.

• Charles (Tad) Miller, named coordinator of the Accounting Area, will serve until June 2001. Miller started teaching at Cal Poly in 1987.

• Artemis Papyriazis, a Cal Poly professor since 1982, is serving two years as the coordinator of the Economics Area.

• Ken Reiner is the new Finance Area coordinator. Reiner, who came to Cal Poly in 1983, is serving for two years.

• James Sena of the Management Area began a three-year term as coordinator in September. He started at Cal Poly in 1987.

• Teri Swartz is serving as coordinator of the Marketing Area. Swartz, who will serve until June 2000, began her Cal Poly teaching career in 1991. □

Here's how to reach us

The Cal Poly Report is published by the Communications Office every Wednesday during the academic year.

Items submitted by 10 am Thursday appear in the following Wednesday's edition.

For information, call ext. 6-1511. □

Learn to locate funding sources on line

The Grants Development office has scheduled a hands-on training session on Wednesday, Oct. 7, for faculty and administrative staff members to learn how to locate funding sources electronically through the Web-based database service called SPIN (Sponsored Programs Information Network).

SPIN and its e-mail notification service, SMARTS, are available free to Cal Poly faculty and staff at <http://www.infoed.org>.

The class will run from 3:15 to 4:15 pm in Chase Hall, Room 104.

The session is limited to 15 people. To reserve space, call Grants Development at ext. 6-2982 or e-mail jostrye@calpoly.edu. □

National Depression Screening Day Oct. 8

Employees and students will have an opportunity to learn about the signs and symptoms of depression and receive a free, confidential screening as part of National Depression Screening Day on Thursday, Oct. 8, in the University Union area.

Symptoms of depression include feelings of sadness and emptiness, changing patterns of sleeping or eating, thoughts of suicide, fatigue or loss of energy, the inability to concentrate, and restlessness or decreased activity.

Depression is a medical illness, not a weakness, and treatments are available.

Stop by for a screening and handouts and to see videos on depression. Representatives from Health and Psychological Services and the Employee Assistance Program will be in the UU Plaza from 10 am to 4 pm administering a written self-test that screens for depression.

Individuals will have an opportunity to discuss the results of their test with a mental health professional.

For more information, call EAP at ext. 6-EAP (6-327) or Psychological Services at ext. 6-2511.

Reminder: The Mark S. Reuling Memorial Endowment Volleyball Challenge is being held in conjunction with National Depression Screening Day. For more information, call Polly Harrigan at ext. 6-6553 or Joe Long at ext. 6-1366 or see the article on page 7 of the Sept. 14 Cal Poly Report. □

Oliver North to speak

Controversial Reagan White House figure Oliver North will speak in the Theatre at 7 pm Thursday, Oct. 8.

North gained notoriety during the Iran-Contra scandal and is now host of a syndicated radio show.

His appearance is sponsored by the College Republicans Club. □

Campus Market holding Grand Opening celebration

The just-opened and newly renovated Campus Market, formerly the Campus Store, is in the midst of a weeklong Grand Opening Celebration with prize giveaways and complimentary food samples.

On Thursday, Oct. 8, a KSLY disc jockey and some on-air personalities will spin the SLY 96 prize wheel during the lunch hour.

The market, now more than twice its original size, carries more groceries, including Cal Poly products. With the addition of Julian's Jr. and a new mini-food court, faculty, staff and students can also buy gourmet coffee and pastries, pizza, grilled and deli sandwiches, and salads.

The Campus Market will continue to accept Campus Express Club, Plu$ Dollars, personal checks and cash.

For information, call Nancy Williams, Campus Dining director, at ext. 6-1175. □

Phone book recycling to run through Oct. 9

The latest Pacific Bell phone book is on its way to you, and your help is requested in recycling last year's.

You can recycle them through Friday, Oct. 9, at 11 locations on campus. A memo with a map noting the sites was sent to all departments.

For information, call ext. 6-5226. □

Reception set for international scholars

The Global Affairs Office will host its annual International Visiting Scholars Reception from 3 to 5:30 pm Wednesday, Oct. 14, in the Smith Alumni and Conference Center.

Faculty and staff are invited to meet scholars from Korea, China, Egypt, Spain, Germany, Thailand and Cyprus. □

'Permaculture' to hold Autumn Harvest Festival

Presentations, taste tests, music and dancing are all planned as part of an Autumn Harvest Festival set at Cal Poly and at the San Luis Obispo Botanical Garden on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 9-10.

It kicks off in Chumash Auditorium at 7 pm Friday with a talk and slide presentation by Michael Ableman, a Santa Barbara-based organic farmer and nationally recognized author (see story below), and guest appearances by Cal Poly permaculture teacher Larry Santoyo and Central Coast agricultural leaders.

The festival continues at 11 am Saturday at the San Luis Obispo Botanical Garden at El Chorro Regional Park across from Cuesta College on Highway 1.

The celebration moves to Cal Poly's Permaculture Center and Student Experimental Farm at 1:30 pm at the university. The day will include workshops on ecological agriculture, seed saving, tours of special plantings, and more.

The festival is sponsored by Cal Poly Permaculture, a College of Agriculture group dedicated to ecological agriculture, and the San Luis Obispo Botanical Garden Society. For more information, call Akiva Werbalowsky, manager of Cal Poly Permaculture, at ext. 6-5086, or e-mail him at awerbalo@calpoly.edu. □

Organic farmer, advocate to talk Oct. 9

Michael Ableman, author of a widely praised book on urban farming, will talk and hold a book signing Friday, Oct. 9, as part of the university's three-day Harvest Festival.

Ableman, an organic farmer, permaculturist and community farm advocate, will talk about his farm, his latest book, "On Good Land - The Autobiography of an Urban Farm," and the concepts of urban farming at 7 pm in Chumash Auditorium.

He will be at El Corral Bookstore at 2 pm to sign copies of his book.

For more information, call Margaret Gardner at El Corral, ext. 6-5316. □

Travel safety workshop

A workshop on international travel safety is set from 2 to 4 pm Monday, Oct. 26, in UU 220.

The workshop is sponsored by the Global Affairs office. □

Juggling 'Gizmo Guys' to perform Oct. 9

The Gizmo Guys, described as wacky and quick-witted world-class jugglers, will bring their time-honored circus art to the Cal Poly Theatre at 7 pm Friday, Oct. 9.

Billed as "plain old fun for the entire family," the Gizmo Guys' lighthearted act combines original routines, clever verbal repartee, audience participation, and superb juggling skills.

Allan Jacobs and Barrett Felker formed The Gizmo Guys in 1987. They have appeared before more than a million people in more than 2,000 live performances and countless others on television.

Tickets to the show are $8.50 to $12 and can be bought at the Performing Arts Ticket Office. □

Mark Morris Dance to perform Oct. 14

The Mark Morris Dance Group, considered one of today's greatest contemporary ensembles, will perform at 8 pm Wednesday, Oct. 14, in Harman Hall in the Performing Arts Center's Cohan Center.

The group will be accompanied by an orchestra and will perform a new work created in honor of composer Franz Schubert.

Known for fascinating musical selections and a unique ability to interpret them, the group is also praised for its breadth of styles and tones and the highly original vision of its leader.

Since Mark Morris formed the company in 1980, critics have been applauding his diverse work, calling him "musical, inventive, volatile, flamboyant and entertaining."

The Washington Post called Morris "the Mozart of modern dance" and the Los Angeles Times said, "He is intensely musical, deceptively cerebral, insinuatingly sensual, fabulously funky."

Tickets to this Cal Poly Arts event cost $13.50 to $28 and can be bought at the Performing Arts Ticket Office. □

Tickets to the performances listed in today's Cal Poly Report are on sale at the Performing Arts Ticket Office from 10 am to 6 pm weekdays and from 10 am to 4 pm Saturdays. Call 6-ARTS (ext. 6-2686), or to order by fax, dial ext. 6-6088. Information on Cal Poly Arts events, including audio and video samples of artists' work, can be found on the WWW at www.calpoly.arts.org. □

Straw building symposium scheduled for Oct. 17-18

Cal Poly will host the California Straw Building Symposium and Workshop at the Permaculture Center and organic farm Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 17-18, from 9:30 am to 3:30 pm.

Guest instructors and straw-bale building experts will talk about the financial, ecological, aesthetic, and practical benefits of building with this annual fiber crop.

With the help of experienced builders, participants will also be given hands-on opportunities designing, building, stuccoing and plastering. Emphasis will be given to weatherproofing straw structures.

Registration is $98 and includes all materials. Space is limited. To register, call Extended Education at ext. 6-2053. □

Rec Center lockers available for '98-'99

Faculty and staff members who would like to have a locker assigned to them for the 1998-99 year (October to September) should submit their name, department and phone number to the Equipment Room in the Rec Center by Oct. 14.

A drawing will be held Oct. 16 to determine who will be assigned the approximately 75 lockers available in each locker room for annual checkout. □

... TV show

"We were selected to appear on this program," said Bill Boynton, business dean, "because of the distinctive approaches that we are developing in our business programs that capitalize on our setting within a polytechnic university and that aim to provide graduates with a competitive edge through a better understanding of technology in business."

The program was hosted by Capt. Jim Lovell, commander of the Apollo 13 mission to the moon, and included deans of the business schools at Oakland University in Michigan, Southern Illinois University, and the University of Missouri at St. Louis.

The episode of "The Executive Forum" will soon be available on demand from the show's Web site at www.theexecutiveforum.com. Later this fall, a custom tape on the College of Business will also be available on that Web site. □

Alumni to be honored at Homecoming festivities

Cal Poly's six colleges and the University Center for Teacher Education have selected their 1998 Honored Alumni, who will be recognized during Homecoming activities, Friday through Sunday, Oct. 23-25.
